Quote of the month:

"There are ways from light into darkness and from darkness into light. There are ways, also, from the gloom into deeper darkness, and from the dawn into brighter light. The wise use the light they have to receive more light, and advance in the knowledge of truth."

- Sayings of Buddha, Peter Pauper Press

Magical Tip:

"For long-term spells you will want to pay attention to the energy of the days of the week and the sign in which the moon is traversing. Tuning into these by making subtle changes in your words of power or visualization can boost your spell's effectiveness."

- Edain McCoy, Advanced Witchcraft

Tarot as a Tool of Growth and Enlightenment Workshop

SIGN-UP TODAY!

November 22, 2009 - 2 pm to 4 pm

Do you want to discover a new way of understanding yourself and others? This 2-hour class will discuss tarot as a tool of self-awareness rather than as a means of fortune telling. You'll learn to use the cards to gain valuable insights about yourself, others, and situations, as well as how to use the cards as a springboard for private explorations in your journal.

In the first hour, you'll learn about the various energetic bodies, which suits they correspond to, and how individual patterns and tendencies reveal themselves in the cards. During the second hour, students will practice using the cards to reveal their own patterns and to test various life paths and options. Bring your favorite tarot deck and a notebook to

New Information Section!

So many of you are interested in gemstones and the vibrational energies they contain. Each month, I'll highlight a gemstone and describe its metaphysical attributes and ways to use it to your advantage.

The first stone we'll explore is the birthstone for November...Citrine.

Citrine is the stone of manifestation. Hold the citrine and focus on what you want and it will assist you to be clear on your goals and promote success and prosperity. It is one of two stones (the other is kyanite) that never has to be cleared, since it does not absorb negative energy. Citrine is also an anti-nightmare stone; put one next to the bed to eliminate or minimize bad dreams. This stone assists in the manifestation of personal power, helps you take initiative to fulfill goals, and to have the energy to endure whatever comes your way. Carry citrine to bolster your confidence and attain your goals. Citrine is one of the seven vibrant gemstones providing guidance in Insight

Question: I've been having a run of bad luck; one thing after the next has been bringing disappointment, sadness, and difficulty into my life for the last six months. I'm trying to have faith that things will get better, but I'm beginning to wonder. I'm emotionally exhausted. What can I do to turn this around?

Answer: It sounds as though there is an energetic clearing happening in your life. The things that are ending, not coming to fruition, or turning out not to be what you expected are things that are meant to be removed from your life in order for you to move forward. The degree of difficulty you're having corresponds to the level of shifting that is happening. Take a look at all of the changes that have happened in the last six months; write down what has happened and look for patterns in the occurrences that have been negative. Try to see the lessons that are held in these events. While you are "trying to have faith," that is not the same as having it. It is important that you truly believe that everything happens for a reason and that you are ultimately meant to be happy. That seems like a dream right now, but there are times when we must hit bottom before life begins to improve. It is time to take stock in what you really want and in what you believe in. You must align your thoughts with positive aspirations in order to create the shift toward the positive returning into your life. Focus on the things that you are grateful for and do not focus on the things that have created disruption. Remember that disruption creates opportunity for growth and learning. Blessings, Diane
